- 1 Usain Bolt won both the 100m and 200m gold medals at three Olympic Games.
- 2 Bolt won all his gold medals running on his own.
- 3 Bolt was world champion 11 times.
- 4 Nadia Comaneci was 16 years old when she got a perfect score.
- 5 The scoreboard didn't show Comaneci's score correctly.
- 6 Comaneci scored 10.00 six times at the Montreal Olympics.
- 7 Some people thought it was impossible to run a mile in four minutes.
- 8 Roger Bannister did not win a medal at the 1952 Olympic Games.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST SPORTS ACHIEVEMENTS

READY, SET, GO!

UNIT 8

The world of sports is full of wonderful moments. Here are our top three.

★ The triple double

The starting gun went off. Suddenly, eight athletes were flying down the track in Rio de Janeiro's Olympic Stadium. Less than 20 seconds later, the race was over. Usain Bolt was walking around the stadium with the Jamaican flag over his shoulders – he was a double Olympic champion ... again! Four years earlier, at the 2012 London Olympics, he became the first man to win a gold medal in both the 100m and 200m sprint at a second Olympic Games (he won them both at the 2008 Beijing Olympics, too). In Rio, he did it for a third time. As well as his eight Olympic gold medals (he won the other two in relay races with other teammates), Bolt also won 11 world championships and currently holds the world record for the 100m and 200m. He is one of the greatest sprinters in history.

★ The perfect ten

Everyone was looking at 15-year-old Romanian gymnast Nadia Comaneci as she left the bars, flew through the air, and landed perfectly on the ground. She turned round. The crowd was cheering. Everyone was waiting nervously for the judges' score. Then it came. The scoreboard was showing "1.00." The crowd was confused. But then the organizers explained. The makers of the scoreboards thought it was impossible to get a perfect score of 10. The boards were not able to show "10.00." So, on July 18, 1976 at the Montreal Olympics, Nadia made history when she became the first gymnast ever to get a perfect ten. She got six more perfect scores at the games and won three gold medals, making her one of the best athletes in her sport of all time.

★ The four-minute mile

It was the final lap. Roger Bannister was running fast, but could he really become the first person to run a mile in under four minutes? A minute later, he was lying exhausted on the ground. Then, there was an announcement of his time: "3 minutes, 59.4 seconds." The crowd went wild.

Before May 6, 1954, experts said that a four-minute mile was impossible to run. Roger showed them that they were wrong. He planned to stop running after the 1952 Summer Olympics, but there he only came in fourth place. Without a medal, Roger wanted to show how good he was. In 1954, he did exactly that.

LISTENING

9 8.04 Five teenagers were asked the question: "How do you feel about sports?" Listen and draw the correct emoji for each sport they mention.

They really like it.

It's OK for them.

They don't like it.

	Gemma	Andy	Tracey	Paul	Ryan
soccer
swimming running skateboarding gymnastics
skiing
tennis

10 8.04 Listen again. Who expresses these ideas? Write the name.

- I practice a lot.
- I am not competitive.
- I like doing things alone.
- I'm learning another sport.
- I can't play my sport at school.

11 SPEAKING Work in pairs. Which of the five teenagers are you like? Tell your partner.

I'm like Ryan. I love all sports.

I'm like Andy because I prefer individual sports.

Look

You can use like to say that you have similar interests to somebody or that you have the same abilities.

Sarah's like Greg. She loves tennis.

Matt's like his brother. They're both good at gymnastics.

FUNCTIONS
Talking about feelings

12 You are going to answer the question: "How do you feel about sports?" List some sports you want to talk about.

running, soccer, swimming, surfing

13 What do you want to say about each sport? Mark them with a ✓ for positive comments and X for negative ones.

running X soccer X swimming ✓ surfing ✓

14 Think about why you put ✓ or X. Look at the words and ideas in Exercise 8. Use these words and/or other words you know.

*running X boring soccer X team sport
swimming ✓ fun surfing ✓ difficult and fun*

15 Work in pairs. Ask each other, "How do you feel about sports?"

How do you feel about sports?

Well, I don't like running because it's boring. But swimming is fun and I love surfing because it's fun and it's difficult to do.

Sports fails

Professional athletes need their bodies to be in excellent condition. They train for hours every day to achieve this. Sometimes it only takes one small mistake to spoil all that hard work. In 2011, for example, French golfer Thomas Levet won the French Open. He was so happy that he jumped in to a lake and broke his leg. And American skier Lindsey Vonn cut her hand badly while she was opening a glass bottle to celebrate winning at the 2009 World Championships.

We know you're not professionals, but we want you to tell us all about your silliest sports accidents.

1 Last year, I was playing volleyball for my school team. I jumped up high and hit the ball really hard. At first, I thought it was a really good shot, but I soon found out it wasn't. The ball hit the post at the side of the net. Then it hit me in the face and knocked me to the floor. I had a big purple bruise on my face and I couldn't play the rest of the game. Liam

2 When I was 13, I ran on the track team and we won a championship. A few days later, there was a big celebration. All the students were there to watch as we walked on to the stage to get medals from the principal. I got my medal, but when I was leaving the stage, I tripped and fell down the steps. Luckily, I wasn't hurt, but I was really, really embarrassed. Connor

3 A few days ago, I was skateboarding down the street when I saw my best friend. I shouted to him and started waving. While I was waving, I rode into a lamppost and fell off. My leg was hurting really badly and I couldn't move it. After a few minutes, my friend called an ambulance. Finally, they took me to hospital. The doctor there told me my leg was broken. Now I can't skateboard for at least six months, and I have to miss the local competitions. Eve

READING

1 Look at the pictures. What do you think is happening in each one?

2 8.05 Read and listen to the stories and match them with the pictures. Write the numbers 1–3 in the boxes.

3 Read the forum again. Answer the questions.

- 1 Why did the golfer jump into a lake?
- 2 How did the skier cut her hand?
- 3 After Liam hit the ball, what did it do?
- 4 What was Connor doing when he fell?
- 5 Why can't Eve skateboard for the next six months?

4 SPEAKING How funny do you think these stories are? Give each one a number from 0–5 (0 = not funny at all, 5 = very, very funny). Compare your ideas with a partner.

Train to THINK

Sequencing

5 Look at the lists. Put them in a logical order.

- 1 morning – night – afternoon – evening
- 2 tomorrow – today – next week – yesterday
- 3 Saturday – Wednesday – Monday – Friday
- 4 have lunch – come home – go to school – wake up
- 5 baby – adult – child – teenager
- 6 first half – kick-off – half-time – second half

6 SPEAKING Compare your ideas with other students. Are they the same or different?

GRAMMAR

Past continuous vs. simple past

- 7 Look at these sentences from the stories on page 78. Which verbs are in the past continuous and which verbs are in the simple past?

The wonderful world of sports

Culture

1 Look at the photos and answer the question. Then say what you think the article is about. Where can you see the following things?

- people climbing
- camels
- a net
- a chess board

2 8.06 Read and listen to the article. Match the pictures with the sports (1–4).

3 SPEAKING Which sport do you like most? Which do you not like? Compare your ideas with others in the class.

Sports such as soccer, tennis, and golf are popular all over the world with millions of people playing them or watching them on TV. But there are also many unusual sports that are not so well known. Here are four interesting examples.

1 Every year, on a small Chinese island, thousands of people arrive to celebrate a very special event: the Cheung Chau bun festival. The highlight of the festival is a race to the top of a very strange mountain. The mountain is made of metal and covered with a type of traditional Chinese bun. Spectators watch as three teams compete to see how many buns they can take from the mountain. The climb can be quite dangerous and people who want to take part must take a special training course.

2 Camel racing is a popular sport in many countries around the world, including Mongolia and Australia. But it is especially popular in the Middle East and each year, from late October to early April, many big races take place in countries such as the United Arab Emirates. As many as 70 camels race along sandy desert tracks for up to 16 km. The owners of the camels drive by the side of the animals shouting at them to run faster and cross the finish line before the others.

3 Bossaball is a very modern sport that was first played in 2005. It started in Spain, but it was the idea of a Belgian man called Filip Eyckmans. He wanted to create a sport that mixed together soccer, gymnastics, volleyball, and the Brazilian music of bossa nova. There are two trampolines with a net between them. The idea is for one team to hit the ball over the net and the other team to try to hit it back. The trampolines let the players jump very high, making the sport very exciting to watch. The sport is already popular in many countries around the world, including Brazil, Mexico, Turkey, Singapore, and Saudi Arabia.

4 Chess boxing was the invention of Dutch artist Iepe Rubingh. His original idea was to create a piece of performance art, but it was so popular that it soon became a sport played in countries all over the world. The game is fairly simple. Two contestants compete against each other at chess and boxing. Each round of chess is followed by a round of boxing with a break of a minute between each round to give the players time to put on or take off their gloves. The first person to win either the chess match or the boxing match wins the game.

- 4 Read the article again and answer the questions. Why ...
- do thousands of people go to a Chinese island every year?
 - do people climb the metal mountain?
 - do camel owners drive beside the camels and shout?
 - did Filip Eyckmans create bossaball?
 - is bossaball exciting to watch?
 - do people playing chess boxing stop for one minute?

- 5 VOCABULARY There are eight highlighted words in the article. Match the words with these meanings. Write the words.

| 0 are involved in an activity or sport | take part |
| 1 the people who try to win a race / game / quiz (etc.) | _____ |
| 2 a short time between two things | _____ |
| 3 happen | _____ |
| 4 a competition to see who is the fastest at something | _____ |
| 5 people who watch a race or game | _____ |
| 6 to go across from one side of something to another | _____ |
| 7 a small, sweet cake (usually round) | _____ |

| Paragraph 1 | a after the event |
| Paragraph 2 | b introduction to the event |
| Paragraph 3 | c details of the event (the match itself) |

SPORTS NEWS

Home About Latest news

(1) Last Saturday was the final of the women's singles at the Wimbledon Championships, played (of course) at the All England Club (Wimbledon). My family was lucky enough to get tickets. When we got there, we went to the court and found our seats. Of course, the stadium was full and everyone was very excited. It was spectacular!

(2) At ten to two, the players came out: Venus Williams from the US and Garbiñe Muguruza from Spain. At first, I was sure Williams was going to win because she was a five-time Wimbledon champion, but as the match continued, it was clear that I was wrong. Both players played really well and after almost an hour, the exciting first set ended: 7-5 to Muguruza. Could 37-year-old Williams come back? No. She started to look tired and to play badly. The second set was quite easy for Muguruza, and after 20 minutes, she won the set 6-0 and won the match. At the age of 23, she was the new Wimbledon champion. The crowd stood and clapped and cheered. And then Muguruza got the trophy.

(3) After the match, we looked around a bit and then went home. We had a great time. The match was very exciting and it was fantastic to see a big sports event "live."

- 4 PLAN Think of a sports event that you went to or would like to go to. Answer the questions.

- When is / was the event?
- Where is / was it?
- What is / was the atmosphere like (the crowd, the noise, etc.)?
- What happens / happened at the event (players / goals / winners, etc.)?
- How did / would you feel after the event (happy / tired / excited / unhappy)?

- 5 PRODUCE Write an article for a school magazine (about 120–150 words) about the sports event. Use Joanna's article and the language above to help you.
